

Dear FCC,

I would like to express my concerns about LPFM stations and how they could effect the current FM translator service. My favorite radio station is K-LOVE at 91.1 FM. It brings hope and a positive message as well as encouraging Christian music to the people in Denver and surrounding areas. Along with the regular news, they often report upbeat stories about people and events around the world. This is truly uplifting and helps to balance out other items in the news that are often discouraging. I also really love that it is commercial free! I'm worried that the regular FM translators could be forced off the air if LPFM stations are allowed to take priority. This would mean that not only my favorite station (K-LOVE), but other stations as well would be gone! I appreciate the time you have given in evaluating my input. Thank you, Lisa Welsh
